Architects Get the Green Light On the Farnsworth Memorial

Local representatives of Wadsworth, Boston & Co., architects on the Farnsworth Memorial, announced this morning that they have received permission from the Civilian Production Administration to proceed with the construction of the outer walls of both the museum building and the business block. Work on the project has lagged for some time, waiting this order to proceed. No information is forthcoming as to when they will be permitted to do the interior construction and finishing of the building.

Inasmuch as there are several months work ahead to complete the authorized work, it is entirely possible that permission to complete the two buildings will be at hand when they are ready.

NO STENCH IN WOBURN

What The Courier-Gazette Representative
Found At Fish Reduction Plant There

(By Sid Cullen)

That there is no necessity for the stench which is blown over the city from fish reduction plants is quite convincingly shown by present conditions at the Aberjona plant in Woburn, Mass.

At the hearing attorneys for Whitmoyer chose to confuse the issue at hand with statements of income to the city and salaries of their employees, and the working-man's rights to earn a living—not considering the comfort of nearly 9000 other individuals in the community.

As the meeting drew to a close, an attorney representing the Maine Sea Products, stated that his firm was ready to do whatever possible; the statement amounted to "You tell us what to do and we will do it."

Attorneys for the other firm, together with Mr. Wandell who was representing the management of the company, stated that it took a similar stand.

The Aberjona plant of Bluepoints, Inc. at Woburn, Mass., which is also a fish reduction plant, had been previously mentioned by this newspaper as being a model plant of its kind. Mr. Wandell doubted that they had been able to conquer their "smell" problem and stated visits there by a representative of his company had shown them to be having difficulties too.

Inasmuch as this newspaper was several times mentioned by the Whitmoyer attorneys and Mr. Wandell, with the implication that our information which we had passed to the public was, to say the least, incorrect.

I visited the Aberjona Packing Co., Tuesday, arriving at the plant at 8.45 a. m. and departing shortly before 11 o'clock—after having spent that time within the plant on a thorough tour of inspection.

No advance arrangements were made for the visit with Aberjona officials. They knew nothing of the proposed inspection until the mission was explained and permission requested to go through the plant. There was no smell about the exterior of the plant other than a faint odor of fish meal which one really had to be looking for to identify. The grounds about the wooden and masonry buildings were especially neat. There was no refuse lying outside, no empty containers or trucks loaded with waste, and no drainage from the buildings running across the roadways to putridity.

The plant manager, and later the plant superintendent took the reporter through the plant, all sections of it from the floor where the waste is received to the warehouse where the finished product is stored.

The start was made in the receiving building where all waste coming to the plant is brought in and held until ready for the cookers. At that time, there was an estimated eight to 10 tons of red-fish and groundfish waste on the

Lobster Fishing Good When
Ralph Barter's Pound
Caved In

Lobster fishermen in the Stonington area found their traps running over Wednesday at the expense of a lobster pound operator's hard luck—to the tune of between $8000 and $10,000.

Ralph Barter lost thousands of lobsters when a side of his pound caved in and they crawled into a cove section of the Atlantic nearby. News of Barter's misfortune spread fast among fishermen, who immediately set traps near the pound and pulled them in, filled to the brim.

One fisherman found 25 lobsters, weighing about 40 pounds, in a single trap.

Tests were passed at a rapid rate during the regular Wednesday night meeting. The boys are preparing to raise their rating on or about Aug. 23. Future Junior Officers will be appointed according to their leadership qualities, ability and rating.

Mate Milton Roberts would enjoy seeing any of his shipmates during visiting hours at Knox Hospital. He is recuperating from an appendectomy.

YOUR FAVORITE POEM

If I had my life to live again I would have made a rule to read some poetry and listen to some music at least once a week. The loss of these tastes is a loss of happiness.—Charles Darwin.

LISTENING

I sometimes think the nicest thing in all the world is listening. For me, it never could be Spring. Unless I heard a robin sing. And there's no lovelier refrain. Or song of bird—it doesn't matter. I love to hear the wind in trees. A child's gay laughter, hum of bees, And in some dim woods, green and still. There I shall always find a thrill. It may be just a squirrel's chatter. Or song of bird—it doesn't matter. For I shall find some lovely thing. Wherever I go, if listening. May I have ears attuned always To all earth's lovely things, I pray.

Eisenhower's Own Story Of The War. The complete report by the Supreme Commander on the war from Europe from Day of Invasion to the Day of Victory. Arco Publishing Company, New York.

This is one of the truly great documents in the history of human conflict. It is the personal, yet minute report of the world's mightiest military operations, written by one man qualified to write it—a man under whose supreme command the Allied forces rode to triumph. A classic of information, the plain language for which our Chief of Staff is famous, it reveals the whole inside story of how the war was run and won, with the story of the Supreme Command, its plans and its execution. This story is a document that will live generations and give courage and faith to all ages.

[EDITORIAL]

ANNIVERSARY
Next Wednesday is the first anniversary of Japan's defeat, and Gov. Horace A. Hildreth, believing that it should not pass unobserved has issued a proclamation in which he urges participation in appropriate memorial services and patriotic demonstrations. "He also urges a display of the American flag and flags of the Allied nations."

"I take this occasion," he adds, "to emphasize our individual responsibility for cultivating the friendship of peoples of other nations and races as a prerequisite for world peace. We must strive for a tolerance of all our fellow men to insure lasting peace, since only thus can we discharge our obligation to our heroic dead and confer a birthright of honor, freedom and opportunity on future generations. For our present freedom, comfort, and possibly our very lives, we are indebted to those who served our Country so nobly and successfully during World War Two."

YOUNG REPUBLICANS TO MEET
Maine's Young Republicans will hold a streamlined convention at the Elmwood Hotel in Waterville Saturday, Aug. 17, with Senator Owen Brewster as the principal speaker. Veterans and young people in politics will be the convention keynote. The afternoon will be taken up with a round table discussion by returned service men. Senator Brewster will speak at the evening banquet.

TRUMAN'S SMILE RESTORED
President Truman's candidate for Representative to Congress in the Fifth Missouri district was a winner over Representative Roger C. Slaughter, whose defeat the Chief Executive sought, but the margin of victory was not too impressive. The victory is regarded by the President as the vindication of his administration—a sentiment not too commonly expressed these days.

WHY ARE ORANGES SO SMALL?
A good many fruit customers have been wondering at the diminutive size of California oranges and probably speculated as to the cause of it. Even the growers do not know, according to the National Grange Magazine, which says:

Last Summer they explained that the oranges were small because the crop was the largest on record. When production goes up the sizes usually go down. But last Winter the naval orange crop was not very large, while sizes continued to be small. This Summer the Valencia orange crop is estimated at only two-thirds of last year's record of 83,500 carloads. But the disconcerting fact is that the percentage of small oranges will be greater than last year.

Orange size is measured by the number that will fit into one shipping crate. Two hundred oranges to a crate is regarded as a good size for Valencias. Last Summer the average was 266 to a crate. This Summer it takes 344 to 420 to fill a crate. Fortunately, there is nothing wrong with small oranges from the eating standpoint. They contain plenty of juice. But they are a marketing headache, because housewives prefer larger sizes even if the price is higher.

WHY SHOE FACTORIES CLOSE
The present critical situation facing the United States shoe industry appears to be another instance of the chaos which results from attempting to hold price controls at or near previous levels while dropping contingent supply controls.

On June 26 the 14-nation Combined Hides, Skins, and Leather Committee was dissolved, and with it import controls and other distribution orders. The OPA took note of the anticipated jump in prices which would result when imports throughout the world once more began competing for supplies by allowing American importers a markup margin of 5 percent on the cost of skins as landed.

However, world prices skyrocketed almost 50 percent, and domestic prices during suspension of OPA followed suit. With OPA reinstated, domestic ceilings were rolled back to the June 30 level, but world prices stayed up. Consequently, hide dealers are withholding their products from tanners; tanners, in turn have stopped their sale of leather; shoe factories are closing down, and thousands of workers are being laid off.

"The OPA averts that the United States produces the bulk of hides and skins it uses, and import prices do not materially affect ceilings on domestic products. But domestic packers also are disinclined to sell under present ceilings. The matter clearly is one calling for prompt review and decision of the new Decontrol Board. If price revision or complete decontrol is found warranted, such action should be taken without delay. But if the verdict is one simply of an unjustified 'seller's strike,' then Government powers should be invoked to compel release of essential stockpiles. In any case, the seriousness of the situation demands prompt consideration."—Christian Science Monitor.

Acute Gas Pains? Stomach Distress?

Try Hot Water To Which A Little Neutracid Has Been Added

At the first sign of distress smart men and women now know just what to do. They put a teaspoonful of Neutracid in a glass of real hot water and drink it after meals, that's all. Neutracid is new—it's made especially for the symptomatic relief of gastric hyperacidity. Nothing quite like Neutracid to bring fast, quick relief to the sufferer of stomach distress, acid indigestion, gas pains, heartburn, burning sensations, and other conditions when caused by excessive stomach acidity.

North Knox Fair

Heavy Prizes Offered To Winners of Pulling Events At Union

With the popularity of the drawing events on the increase each year at the Fair, Union Fair officials are increasingly alert in improvement of that department. One of the outstanding methods for improvement for this 1946 season, opening Aug. 20, is to gain wider spread and greater competition, which is being accomplished by the advance in premiums paid this year. And again, the events are open to State-wide competition, and pairs of horses and yokes of oxen are expected to be present for the contests from some distance.

Wednesday, Aug. 21, three classes of horses will pull off a series of drawing contests, the classes 2800 pounds and under; the 3000 pounds and under; and the 3200 pounds and under. Some of the best pairs of horses throughout the State are expected to be on hand some time during the fair season.

Heavy draft horses than ever before will be entered, and the pulling program of last year, by far the best ever put on at Union, is sure to be topped by this year's performance. For those who favor the pulling of oxen, the big increase in premiums for the seven feet two inches class, is sure to attract some of the larger yokes.

Mervyn Merrill of South Hope, so well liked at the "m ke" last year on the speaking system at the pulling enclosure, will again be on hand, and some trials will be added to the announcements this season, to make more interesting, each contest. As each contestant enters the ring, the spectators will be given some facts regarding the team and owner.

Blanks for entry in events may be obtained from Frank Caldwell of Union, assistant to Superintendent Marr of the pulling department. Attention of contestants is called to the fact that all draft horses must be weighed in by the committee at the Monmouth Canning Co. scales.

Summary of purses, with increases:

Steers—Five feet and under: purse $5, $4, $3.

"The Gay Nineties"

Benefit Performances Will Be Given In Camden August 29 and 30

"The Gay Nineties" will be at Camden Opera House for two nights, Aug. 29 and 30. The Warren Players under the direction of George Carr of Warren, will present this outstanding and successful production for the Camden War Memorial Gymnasium Fund. Beautiful authentic costumes, complete to the minute detail; tunes of the gay 90's will rock the years to that time. The melodramatic and rather stilted acting of that period, a stage setting of antiques, impersonation of famous musical comedy stars and celebrities of that day, are all combined to make the most talked of production in the State of Maine in years. Even the large program sheets are of the style of yesterday.

Anna Heid, Lillian Russell, Caruso, Nora, will be impersonated with Diamond Jim Brady to meet the audience. There are singing waiters with famous singing voices and their songs and antics will greatly amuse. There is a carnival spirit during the production—something going on all the time.

The old fashioned melodrama in one act, "Fireman Save My Child," written around the Knox Woolen Mills in Camden, will be a feature. This is complete in the playing style of the Gay Nineties, with a slippery but handsome villain, a manly hero and a beautiful, modest heroine. There is a supporting cast equal to any late New York production.

This production is one of the best Mr. Carr has ever written. It is polished and gives the players an opportunity to express their art in a manner that varies from deep emotion to Singing Art that will reach the heart with a "music bath" stimulating and beautiful.

Most of the acting is done on the floor along the aisles of the Opera House, featuring Comedy stars such as Nora Bayes.

Under the management of Milford Payson, who has asked Mr. Carr to bring the production to Camden for the War Memorial Fund, the Opera House for the two nights will be a "sell out."

Tickets will go on sale soon and seats may be reserved at the Village Shop. Orders by mail will be accepted.

Twilight League

It seems only a few years ago when he was winning schoolboy laurels on that same diamond. Who among the fans of that period will ever forget the famous pitching duels Elmer Rising waged with another famous school pitcher, "Tippy" Feehan of Thomaston. Nobody in the Rockland section will ever forget that 1 to 9 game which Rising won after 15 innings of strenuous playing in Thomaston, and nobody in the Thomaston section will ever forget Tippy's comeback in a game played later that season. Those two boys made school history.

It took the Ellsworth Red Wings 11 innings to beat Thomaston Sunday afternoon, but the home fans

A Fine Tribute

Paid To North Haven By a Member of the Summer Colony

At the Centennial celebration in North Haven a splendid tribute was paid to the town in behalf of the Summer resort section. It follows:

We of the Summer community cannot let this anniversary pass without saying explicitly how much this incomparable island means to us and how grateful we are for all that the permanent residents of North Haven have done to make our lives healthy and happy and continually revitalized.

Whoever sets foot upon these shores quickly comes to know and experience the beauty of this place. Whatever the course of our lives in the larger world beyond, here we find a unique and unexcelled harbor of refreshment where we share as partners in simple pleasures and untrammelled loveliness. In the whole earth, what plot of land is more beautiful and varied in its beauty and variety of life's joys and sounds as this, our present home?

And North Haven possesses far more than the passing observer would think. The inhabitants of the mainland believe that the Camden Hills are theirs; but we know that in a real sense they are truly ours, especially during those flaming, cloud-capped sunsets over the western bay. In fact, much of Penobscot Bay, with its multitude of islands and pink-white granite bluffs, belongs to us; and in clear weather we can claim the mountains of Isle au Haut, Blue Hill and even Mt. Desert. By day and by night an ever changing and unusually magnificent sky is ours. When darkness comes at the Haven, surely the stars shine brighter and the moon looms larger than anywhere else in the world!

Over long ages Nature built and adorned our beloved island, "this precious stone set in a silver sea." North Haven is part of the great American heritage of natural beauty. We Americans are blessed indeed in our splendid rivers and waterways, our mountains and valleys, our forests and plains. This is a heritage to preserve forever. And we would keep North Haven as it is today, simple, unspoiled, beautiful, so that this treasure island may be maintained intact for all lovers of beauty who come after us.

would like to forget what happened as the curtain was falling.

Rockland and St. George played two and one-half innings in a steady drizzle at St. George Wednesday night, and Umpire Chummy Gray was then forced to call the game. Rockland was leading 1 to 0 when the cessation came.

Knox County towns are going to be very homesome during the World Series. Every fan who can get a seat will be in Fenway Park. Be sure your radio is in good trim if you are unable to go.

Manager Wincapaw is negotiating for a Sunday game in Rockland. One week from Sunday a fine attraction will be furnished by the appearance here of the strong Wisconsin team which has thus far beaten most of its opponents.

A Lewiston ball game between the House of David and Lewiston All Stars was called off when the twenty-second and last available baseballs sailed over the fence and became lost. What if any of the balls lodged in the luxuriant beards of the House of David players.

ISAAC J. FIELDS

Funeral services for Isaac Jackson Fields were held at his late home, 164 Maverick street Wednesday afternoon with Dr. John Smith Lowe of the Church of Immanuel, Universalist officiating. Bearers were Raymond E. Thurston, Herbert E. Payson, Lendon C. Jackson, Jr., and Frederick E. Tripp, and interment was in the family lot at Sea View Cemetery.

Deceased was born in Rockland, Sept. 17, 1861, son of Isaac J. and Nancy Welch Fields, the forebears of the family being of old Waldo-boro stock. He grew to manhood in this city, and being of powerful physique it was natural that he should become a quarry man and limestone contractor during the heyday of the business. Subsequently he was proprietor of the Lindsey House and other hotels. He served for nine years with the Rockland Police Department and subsequently, his last employment, was a guard at the Maine State Prison. In young manhood he built the fine home on North Main street, where death claimed him Monday night following an illness of six weeks.

Mrs. Fields was married to Lucinda O. Jameson, and to this union were born two children, Arthur, who died in young manhood, and Carrie L., who survives and who gave unfailing affection and care to her father during his declining years.

Deceased was for 60 years a member of Knox Lodge, I.O.O.F. The full span of his life was spent in Rockland except for two years with his daughter in Portland. Surviving, besides the daughter are four nieces, Mrs. Myles J. Mullen of Portland, Mrs. Carroll E. Bessey of Swampscott, Mass., Miss Carrie Tutts of Lynn, Mass., and Miss Jennie B. Gupill of this city.

Mrs. Marion Lindsey will entertain Opportunity Class of the First Baptist Church, Wednesday night at her Summer home at South Thorton. Mrs. Nellie Maguire and Mrs. Helen Bean are making the arrangements. All planning to attend are asked to call a member of the committee. Members of the class and their families are invited.

Mrs. Carroll W. Bessie and daughters Joan of Swampscott, Mass., and Mrs. Harry Clay of Portland were in Rockland Wednesday called by the death of Isaac J. Fields.

Miss Joyce Ulmer and Miss Lillian Bluestone have returned to New York after a visit at the home of the former's aunt, Mrs. Arthur W. Brewer, Camden street. They also visited Mrs. M. L. Bunker at Sutton Island.

Alme Beaudoin entered Knox Hospital Tuesday as a surgical patient.

Mrs. Ruby Murphy is a patient at Knox Hospital.

Mrs. Dan Gatti has returned from a visit in Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Greenlaw of North Haven were visitors in the city Tuesday.

Mrs. Lillian Wood and daughter, Mariguet, have returned from a visit in Bangor.

A Charming Affair

Silver Tea At Major Aldrich's Nets Tenant's Harbor Library Neat Sum

The Silver tea for the Tenant's Harbor Library was favored with a perfect day and the large number of interested persons who attended demonstrated that good causes bring response.

"The Crags" was lovely with flowers of mid-Summer beauty, artistically arranged, and gave delight to all. Mrs. Talbot Aldrich was everywhere, giving welcome to all. Her charming neighborhood friends served the tea table, delicious refreshments.

Tea and coffee were supplied to the thirty guests with an infinite variety of sandwiches and cakes, and even frosted cake.

At the entrance were two very dignified youngsters (grandsons of Major and Mrs. Aldrich) who were emphatic in their pleasure and thanks for the silver and many bills put into the treasure plates in front of them.

The house was open to all and many there were who saw it for the first time, and were emphatic in their praise. The piazza attracted everyone, facing the grand old ocean, over the crags and gardens of the sea in kept massed, rocky shore.

And then the walk out to the Major's studio for a look at his many beautiful pictures and a room full of pictures with interesting memories from world travel and artistic works by the major.

A really choice event of the season is this charming tea and social afternoon. Major Aldrich had as his assistant in receiving in his studio, Professor Robert L. Logan, head of the Art Department of the University of Connecticut.

Mr. Logan, and his charming wife and daughter, who were both helping with the tea, are happy in their home close to "The Crags" where this distinguished artist is filling in his days with lovely pictures of the Maine coast.

The event was perfect in every way and the hope was expressed that the public may be permitted to attend each year and contribute to the Mary Elmer Jackson Library upkeep.—K. S. F.

This And That

By K. S. F.

Don't throw away your old hose even though the Government doesn't need them any more. Use them to pad clothes hangers. Many wartime hangers are made of rough wire or unshapely cardboard. Make them safe for your clothes by wrapping one or two stockings around the ends. A few stitches with a needle and coarse thread will hold the hose securely in place.

A spoonful of suggestions:
For hot potato salad heat the French dressing. A cold dressing makes the salad neither hot nor cold.

Black currant jelly stirred in hot water may ease an annoying cough. Small pieces of celery rolled up in bread make crisp sandwiches.

A piece of sweet geranium leaf placed in grape jelly while it is cooking adds flavor. It becomes wilted. Pressed dates or figs covered with sugar can be prepared at home for tea parties.

Cheese grated into the afternoon tea biscuits makes them delicious. Add a few drops of vinegar to water if salad leaves become wilted. This will freshen them.

Too few cooks take advantage of the many ways to serve cucumbers. Try this—

Flemish Stuffed Cucumbers
Six medium-sized cucumbers, 2-3 cup cooked rice, 2-3 cup minced meat (any kind), 1 tablespoon minced onion, 1 tablespoon minced parsley, 1 tablespoon minced celery, 1-2 cups meat or vegetable stock, 1 teaspoon salt, 1-4 teaspoonful pepper, dash ground mace, 1 egg, 1 cup stewed tomatoes.

Peel cucumbers and parboil for five minutes. To each quart of water in which they are parboiled add one tablespoonful of vinegar before cooking. Combine rice, meat, seasonings and egg and stuff cucumbers. Place in buttered baking dish, add stock, cover dish and bake in moderate oven 30 minutes. Drain and keep hot. Meanwhile add tomatoes to stock and boil down until quite thick. Pour this sauce over cucumbers and serve on hot platter garnished with parsley.

Try this for a change and see how well it takes with the family—

Spinach Ring
Two tablespoonfuls butter, 1 cup finely chopped spinach, 1-2 cup grated cheese, 2 tablespoonfuls flour, 1-2 cup milk, 1-2 teaspoonful salt, pinch paprika, few grains nutmeg, 3 eggs beaten separately.

Melt the butter, add the flour, mix well until smooth and cook until frothy, then add the cold milk, stirring constantly until thick. Add the cheese, spinach, beaten yolks and seasoning, then fold in the stiffly beaten whites. Pour into well greased ring mold, set in pan of hot water and bake in a moderate oven about 45 minutes. To test, run a sharp knife through the center. If the souffle is cooked, let stand a few seconds before removing from mold. Serve at once.

Yes, "a lady with a lamp shall stand in the great history of our land," has been said, but not dressed in shorts or a beach bathing suit, worn on our business streets.

Hand grenades were first used in warfare as early as the Fifteenth Century.

Boston was the first city to adopt an electric fire alarm system, in 1851.

HOLMAN-KIRK WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald King Holman as they left the Church of the Immanuel where they were married last Saturday night by Rev. John Smith Lowe. Mrs. Holman is the former Evelyn Kirk of Rockland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Kirk of Camden street. Mr. Holman is a son of Mrs. Helen and the late Howard Holman of Somerville, Mass., and a recently discharged veteran of four years Coast Guard duty. The couple will make their home in Somerville.

MRS. LILLY S. BOUSFIELD

The many friends of this gifted woman throughout Maine and our Baptist Churches everywhere were sorry indeed to learn of her death at her home in Woolwich July 22, at the age of 78.

Mrs. Bousfield was born in New York. After her graduation from the Baptist Missionary School in Chicago in June 1893 she became a missionary at Shaohing, China, under the auspices of the Women's Baptist Foreign Missionary Society. She was at Shaohing until 1912. From 1912 to 1932 she was at Sun-wu-shan and from 1932 to 1937 she was at Chao-yang.

In 1898 she became the wife of Dr. Cyril E. Bousfield, himself a missionary in China. Together they rendered outstanding service to the sad and afflicted people of this great country. For five years at Chao-yang their work was among lepers. To these people subject to barbaric cruelty and death these two servants of Christ were indeed ministers of mercy, blessing and salvation.

Upon their retirement from missionary service they came to Maine. They assisted for a time the Maine Sea Coast Mission of which their son, the Rev. Neil Bousfield is superintendent. For two years their home was in North Haven where Dr. Bousfield was the resident physician. These later years her home was at Woolwich where Dr. Bousfield has practiced medicine.

Mrs. Bousfield made frequent use of her pen in promoting the things of the Kingdom. While at North Haven she edited and published a book entitled "Our Island Home" a collection of articles of local interest, along with verse, contributed by both islanders and Summer residents. A gifted speaker out of her rich experience in sermon and verse she heralded the Christ whom she loved and served with an untiring devotion.

Mrs. Bousfield is survived by her husband, Dr. Bousfield, and two sons, Rev. Neil D. Bousfield and Professor Western Bousfield of the University of Connecticut.

Henry Felton Huse, Springvale, Aug. 7.

Mrs. Alfred Lord who has been visiting in New Brunswick, Canada and Eastport, and who attended the Roosevelt Memorial at Campobello Island, has returned to her home, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wilson and daughter Alice of Eastport.

John Witham of Bath and his mother, Mrs. Otis Witham of Damariscotta Mills are guests of Mrs. Carrie Waltz, Broadway.

Miss Jennie Crockett of Chelsea has been guest of Mrs. Edward J. Morey.

A Trip To The Stars

Famous Motion Picture To Be Seen At Tenant's Harbor Baptist Church Tonight

Produced in the West Coast laboratory of Moody Bible Institute by Irwin A. Moon, Sc.D., "The God of Creation" is the second in a series of evangelistic films. The first film by Dr. Moon, "They Live Forever," had a large showing in all parts of the country.

In the opening section of "The God of Creation" the audience takes a trip to the stars by means of solar photographs taken through the giant 100-inch telescope of Mt. Wilson Observatory in southern California, and views complex gyrations of our own solar system.

Lapse-time photography is utilized to demonstrate the beauties of natural science. The illusion of flower buds developing into full-blown blossoms in a few seconds is created through this time-compressing photo technique. The metamorphosis of a caterpillar through the various stages from worm to butterfly, and pollination of flowers are seen on the screen in full color.

Believed to be the first of their kind are the natural-color pictures of photosynthesis, the mysterious food-manufacturing process resulting from the action of sunlight on green leaves.

Through cinematography the audience peers into the microscopic world of a drop of water and observes the complexity of tiny organisms, enlarged more than a million times.

Tent Meetings

Nazarene Church Will Feature Famed Evangelist During Remodeling

A remarkable series of evangelistic meetings will be held Aug. 11 through Aug. 25 by the Nazarene Church, Maverick Square, Rockland. A large tent will be erected on the spacious lawn on the Camden street side in which the services will be held while the church building is being remodelled.

The guest evangelist will be Rev. W. H. Minor of Homing, Oklahoma, a strong, convincing preacher who is well and favorably known in this community. He will be accompanied by Mrs. Minor who has attained notable success in her work among young people. Rev. Curtis L. Stanley, pastor of the local church and a famed evangelist-preacher in his own right, will be in charge of the campaign of which special music will be a feature.

Services in the weather-proof tent will be held every weeknight except Saturdays and the Sunday services on Aug. 11, 13 and 25 will be at 3 and 7:30 p. m. with especially attractive musical programs. The public is cordially invited to all services. The church authorities have the cooperation of Chief Engineer Van Russell in seeing to the special electric lighting arrangements and other matters so that the tent will be comfortable and safe at all times.

BENSON-YOUNG

Miss Dorothy Jane Young, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earle E. Young, 501 Hopkins Lane, Haddonfield, N. J., and Donald Floyd Benson, son of Levander Benson, Minneapolis, Minn., were married June 22 in the First Presbyterian Church, Haddonfield by Rev. Dr. Raymond M. Kistler, pastor of the church. Mrs. P. Marie Westbroom Dager, church organist, played the wedding march and accompanied Miss Mahilde Lehmann of Philadelphia in vocal solos preceding the bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white marquisette, designed with an illusion neckline, long pointed sleeves and back ruffles which extended into the train of the gown. Her fingertip veil of net, arranged in three tiers, was held by a coronet of pearlized organ blossoms. She carried white roses, gardenias and baby's breath.

Maid of honor for her sister was Miss Mildred Young, wearing a blue nylon taffeta frock, fashioned with a fitted bodice, cap sleeves and full skirt. She wore matching gauntlets and floral tulle and her bouquet was of larkspur, carnations, cornflowers and blue iris.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Richard Gallagher, Westmont, N. J., Miss Frances Dolan, Collingswood, N. J., and Miss Bonnie Hickman, Haddonfield, N. J. Their gowns were like that of the maid of honor, but in pink. They too, wore matching floral tulle and gauntlets and carried flowers in contrasting shades. Betty Carol Yaskin and Judy Yaskin, Haddonfield, as flower girls, appeared in toe length frocks of pink marquisette. They wore poke bonnets to match and carried baskets of rose petals.

Paul Merrill, New York City, served as best man. Ushers included were Richard Gallagher, Westmont; Thomas Bowen, Collingswood and James Swindell, Philadelphia. Mrs. Young chose an aqua shadow sheer, with which she wore a dusty rose hat and corsage of roses.

A reception at the Haddon Fort-nightly, Haddonfield, followed

SERMONETTE

Face To Face VI.

Running through all these little articles, one has been reminded that constantly individuals are brought face to face with God in decisions suddenly thrust upon them, which not only affect them but others.

So, also as a nation this country is brought "face to face" with decisions which it faces with eternal God. If citizens desire that this country assume the high destiny which those who have died for her desired, they should pray unceasingly for the President and the Congress that in dealing with other peoples, they do unto them as they as people would be dealt with.

The government of the United States is faced with the most terrible decision ever faced by mankind. Let people face the fact that they are responsible to God not alone for America, but all nations as neighbors. Americans are spending untold millions of dollars in its solution when solved by money but will what is required, will not be solved only by love.

As the conclusion of war with Japan neared, someone made the decision to use upon that treacherous nation a most barbaric weapon. Japan was already defeated. She knew it and Americans also knew it, when they bombed two of her great cities, and put to death civilian non-combatants. It may have shortened the war, but this country will always be held accountable to God, for this decision.

At Hiroshima 66,000 died and 69,000 were injured. At Nagasaki, 39,000 died and 25,000 injured—92 percent within a radius of 2000 feet. Scientists are still tinkering with this deadly bomb to make it more deadly. It truly may destroy all mankind. Well may one pray as well as sing, "America, America, God shed His grace on thee," or people shall truly see Him face to face with this sin to all mankind upon them. William A. Holman.

REMEMBER ME?

For many years this fine craft served Rockland and points East. She was one of the ablest and most satisfactory of Rockland's great steamboat fleet. She served with distinction in the recent war and this picture was snapped in New York harbor as she was on her way to her run in Connecticut waters. The stubby stack, far aft, shows that her fine steam engine has been replaced by a diesel. —Photo courtesy Capt. R. F. Eaton.

NO STENCH IN WOBURN

floor which was the remainder of shipments of the preceding day amounting to 150 tons. There was no more odor on this floor than would be noticed in any fish plant or market. It was clean, really clean.

As to how they do it—common sense, plus good housekeeping, preceded by exhaustive tests to determine the best way to preserve the waste until it goes to the steam cookers.

Water lines, attached to a chlorinating system and which in turn continually spray chlorinated water over the waste is the reason for the absence of putrefaction and flies, plus odor in this area.

The chlorinating system feeds approximately five or six parts of chlorine to 1,000,000 parts of water into the spray system; sufficient to keep down odors and to keep the waste in the best possible condition for processing. The spray hits the top of the piles of waste and filters down through to the floor, wetting down and preserving all fish in the pile.

This firm uses fresh water from a nearby pond for the purpose. Chemists say that salt water pumped from the harbor and mixed with chlorine would be even more effective.

Once the fish go to the cookers where the moisture content is reduced to 35%, every possible precaution is taken against escaping vapors which would cause discomfort to persons living in the area.

Vent lines are attached to every cooker; there is a battery of 10 in one section alone, which carries the vapors by suction through an extensive duct system to what is known as a water filter. This unit is connected to all cookers and dryers in the plant.

The filter unit is a jet condenser with 80 sprays operating at 80 pounds pressure and forcing cold water mixed with chlorine through the vapors and absorbing all condensable vapors into the water line which is pumped back into the private pond close to the plant and purified by nature before being reused.

The vent system continues on from the jet condenser, taking the noncondensable gases with it. This line runs to the boiler room of the plant where it is connected with the fireboxes of the stoker fired boilers. Inasmuch as this line is used as the force draft system for the boilers, all noncondensable gases still in the vent line are burned in the intense heat of the coal fires. What goes up the stack is no more than the smoke which would come from any industrial heating plant.

To doubly insure the comfort of the people in the surrounding towns, should the main vent system break down, the vent lines are so arranged that they can be fed directly into a specially constructed incinerator which sits close to the jet condenser unit and is connected with the main stack of the plant. The incinerator is so constructed that it can be operated at a temperature ranging from 1800 to 2500 degrees Fahrenheit which would insure burning of all the noncondensable gases.

The vent system is connected with the dryers as well as the cookers of the plant to insure no escaping odors.

Originally, trouble was experienced with the steam cookers which used feed hoppers at the front of the unit to take in the waste. This, it was found tended to plug some of the vapor vents and forced it into the building itself. Experimentation resulted in the hoppers feeding into the center of the cookers from the top and eliminated the plugging of the steam vents.

The condenser system requires three 500-gallon per minute pumps, two of which are used to produce the 1000 gallons per minute required to properly operate the condenser system and one kept in reserve in case of breakdowns. Again, salt water could be utilized in the condenser system and would require less chlorine than the fresh used at Aberjona to be effective. Locally, the cost of water for the system would be only that of the pump installation and the electric power required to operate the pumps.

The housekeeping methods of the plant were striking. Hoses with chlorinated water were everywhere needed in the plant. Waste water and drainage from any part of the raw product or process was immediately washed away. Plant officials check several times a day in addition to the constant watchfulness of the men employed in the operation.

Plant officials admitted that they had troubles aplenty before they conquered their small problems to the satisfaction of themselves and the residents of nearby communities. The final system was worked out by Bluepoints, Inc., and General Seafoods engineers, plus plant officials. The good housekeeping task is a constant chore of everyone in the plant and one which gets their undivided attention.

The buildings where the actual processing is carried on and where the fish waste is received are all cement and masonry. The doors and windows are open for ventilation; there is no necessity to confine odors which do not exist as the result of the proper handling of the raw product and modern methods of carrying of noxious gases from the process.

At one time, according to plant officials, complaints were received from local boards of health and the State board as the result of complaints of nearby residents. So well have they conquered the nuisance that such complaints are at a minimum. Certainly there were no noxious odors arising from the busy plant, which was in full operation at the time The Courier-Gazette representative was there.

The plant has a capacity of 250 tons of fish waste per day, which is hauled from the docks in Boston and other ports to the Woburn plant.

These trucks have welded steel bodies which close with a heavily clamped watertight seal in the rear and are tightly covered with a tarpaulin before they leave the fish plant. Properly tightened, the rear gate is watertight.

Upon dumping their load on the receiving floor at Aberjona, the trucks are immediately washed out with a line of chlorinated water before they are allowed to leave the floor. Then, the watertight doors are once more secured and the truck is allowed to leave, properly cleaned and in a condition that will permit it to pass through the several communities between Woburn and Boston without causing discomfort to anyone encountering it on the way.

Back to the business of "You tell us what to do and we will do it," the answer seems to be: Do what Aberjona has done—clean up and keep cleaned up—make your trucks watertight—cover the waste in transit—do not allow the trucks to stand on the public streets either loaded
